

Stan Sours

"My art is about the story. The story that inspired each piece and the story each piece inspires. As an artist, the human and animal figures have become the primary vehicle to express my concerns. My work is a reflection of how I have been influenced by an issue or a situation in which I find myself. I have always been interested in creating many layers in my work both physically and symbolically. I draw on personal experience as a source of inspiration in my work. This I blend with humor and personal metaphor."
